Title: Vibrational Astrology integration with Astrology Analysis

Good morning, in this video, I want to talk about vibrational astrology.

I attended the astrology conference in Orlando a week or two ago and it was a great investment because I have had an interest in astrology for a long time now, but this conference surrounded me with people from all around the world who have been associated with astrology for many decades.

Not only that, I was able to see their perspectives and how they implement astrology in their life along with working with others.

I left the conference with a much broader perspective and understanding of how astrology can be used to empower ourselves and others.

In this short video, I want to demonstrate just a snippet of my personal astrology chart and how vibrational astrology can give everyone a snapshot of how powerful this modality or spiritual tool can be if we apply it to our life.

First, I want to express that I'm still juicing in the morning and I think this is very important, because I want to share how it's affected my life so far in year 2025, which I'll buy organic fruits and vegetables, juice them and this is beets, spinach, ginger, celery and water.

It changes a lot, so that's why I don't have this set fruit and vegetable juice and pattern, but I do have a lot of the same fruits and vegetables that I use, just different combinations.

Also it's important to for me to have wild blueberries, cherries, and I will have dragon fruit every once in a while, which is very rich in vitamin C.

Vitamin C is very important in these times with so many viral outbreaks with the what we see in the media, which I barely watch, and I highly recommend that people just kind of glance at the media, but not dwell in mainstream media, because it can strip a lot of the joy and distract us from the present moment.

Alright, let's talk about vibrational astrology and let me share the screen.

I created a report yesterday for my chart.

Now, a lot of times with astrology, I will begin by analyzing the natal chart with the house sizes, the planet positions, and of course, the zodiac signs.

The house sizes can represent the past, the zodiac signs represent the present, and the planets represent the future, or the intents.

Also, I like to use symbol with Tarot because these are very powerful symbols within our subconsciousness that is recognized, whether we know it or not, so I will list the chart rulers and for my particular chart, we have Key 7, The Chariot, ruled by Cancer, and that's my ascendant, so this means that the 1st quadrant is represented by Key 7, The Chariot with Cancer being the ruler.

The ruling planet of Cancer is the Moon.

The second ruler is Key 11, Justice.

That would be the 2nd quadrant, house four to house six and Key 11 is ruled by Venus.

Key 15, The Devil is my ruler for the 3rd quadrant, house seven, eight and nine.

This is social development.

The devil is ruled by Capricorn and then Key 4 is the 4th quadrant, way up here in house 10, 11, and 12, which is ruled by Aries and also the planet Mars,
so this is career development.

1st quadrant is personal development,
2nd quadrant is family development,
3rd quadrant is social development,
4th quadrant is career development.

This is a very high level overview of how we can look at the chart.

Also the masculine and feminine principles can be separated in the categories by the four elements, fire and air represent masculine,
water and earth represent feminine.

So here we have a nice little visual of how the energies will flow through me and be expressed again from a high level.

I also like to draw a horizontal line from the ascendant to the descendant and then know that the objective intents on the top part of the chart can be categorized also.

Alright, so this is more of my outer world.

The lower half of the chart is the inner world.

The intents are more emotional and mental on the bottom half and the planets that are listed here will give us an idea of how the energies, again, are expressed through my introverted and extroverted ways in my personality.

Another way that we can separate the chart for better understanding is when we enter this life, will we be leaning more towards fulfilling destiny or creating destiny?

This means individuals who are here to create destiny seem to be more of entrepreneurship, more selfish, in a kind of way, but not in an arrogant way, but they are here to actually create and manifest, almost be spearheaded in a direction to get the mission accomplished, okay?

This could be people like Elon Musk, which I have not even looked at his chart, but he is a famous entrepreneur who has created a lot of venues such as PayPal and SpaceX, etc.

Most likely, he is here to create destiny.

Right? He will go to the extreme to manifest these creations, whereas for fulfilling destiny, which I can feel from within myself, we can see that the chart is mostly filled on the right side with the primary players, Neptune, Sun, Pluto, Moon, Venus, Uranus, Mercury.

So this is a six-to-four ratio, excuse me, seven-to-three ratio, seven planets on the right for fulfilling destiny, three planets on the left for creating destiny.

My energy is going to be more towards being of service-to-others, once I'm of service-to-myself, of course, know thyself first, and then begin fulfilling destiny by being of service-to-others.

Alright, now let's talk about vibrational astrology.

At the conference, I learned a great deal about how vibrational astrology is more revealing for our energies to be identified.

Vibrational astrology derives from our natal chart.

Here is my natal chart.

This is the vibration that I carry into this lifetime.

Now vibrational astrology is more than just symbolic language or myth, it is the energy process, the energy that flows through us.

Vibrational astrology reveals orbs within our vibration that radiate at different degrees at different phases in our life at different ways of unfolding the expressions that create our personality.

Vibrational astrology also introduced to me midpoints.

Midpoints are nothing more than the point in between two planets or three planets or four planets.

But the concept is the middle path between the two planets, the closer the two planets are together, the stronger the midpoint that is a conjunction.

Strong conjunctions of the planets are working together and of course that will create a smaller tighter orb.

It's sort of like shooting an arrow straight in the middle within a narrow path, whereas two planets farther apart with a midpoint create a farther range and the arrow has more direction to go, if we use that analogy.

We will talk about midpoints and I'm going to continue on using my chart and give some examples.

Alright, the vibrations up here at the top, you can see that the natal chart basically is the 1st harmonic.

It's a prime number.

Now prime numbers, they create new behavior characteristics, so the prime numbers are one, two, three, five, seven, eleven, thirteen, seventeen, nineteen, etc.

Now these prime numbers are sort of like indexes before when there is a shift in new behavior characteristics.

For the 1st vibration, it just represents self, our inner self, the vibration we carry into this lifetime.

I'm not going to go through each harmonic in detail, but I'm going to go through the first thirteen harmonics of my chart.

At the bottom, here are some midpoints that I will discuss in my 11th harmonic.

2nd harmonic, another prime number.

The rank is the sort of the weight of how strong the vibration is within my 365 vibrations.

But let me explain, with vibrational astrology, all 360 degrees is a way to view the rank structure.

There is 360 harmonics within our natal chart.

The 2nd harmonic in my chart has a rank of 106 out of 365 and the score is the weight that it carries.

So out of 100 and I have a rank of 106, that's about middle in importance, okay, but the higher the rank, the stronger the harmonic, which reveals the behavior characteristics that we are looking for and that we can identify and understand about ourselves and normally we compare with our own life experience to validate that this is our energy.

We can see that I've listed three planets with the second harmonic that have 11th degree orb, alright, and then also list the midpoints again, this will be on each harmonic if there is a strong three planet or four planet alignment.

The 3rd harmonic has a rank of 175 out of 360.

The 2nd harmonic means polarity and sharing.

The 1st harmonic is the self.

The 2nd harmonic is polarity and sharing.

The 3rd harmonic is needs to flow, the flowing-ness.

This is also a prime number and it's very important that we maintain a flow state within our life which will bring more joy and harmony, we will be able to see the beauty in the Now moment.

Also, I wanted to just briefly show that Tarot works really well with astrology in the way that I've done it before and even with vibrational astrology because a lot of the characteristics that are used to identify each vibration sort of flow with the principles of consciousness and the 22 Major Arcana.

For example, the 1st vibration is self and here we have The Magician.

The Magician could be the 1st vibration because here we are, The Fool, which we can just symbolize as the Soul coming into form, into matter as we know it, as The Magician getting ready to create using the four elements that we have to work with within this limited space-time environment that we are within this creative environment.

The 2nd harmonic, which can be represented by Key 2, the 2nd harmonic means polarity and sharing.

Well, The High Priestess is all about duality, right?

She symbolizes the masculine and feminine principle and here is where creation all begins with consciousness, with the water flowing from her blue robe.

The 3rd harmonic, Key 3 needs to flow.

We have a flowing water right here that comes from The High Priestess coming in behind The Empress.

She is represented by Venus, beauty, the Empress is pregnant, she is also known as Mother Nature, and she nurtures this entire creative environment that we're in.

Alright, let's go back to vibrational astrology.

I'm not going to go back to using the Tarot anymore because I want to keep this video short, but they do fit nicely with vibrational astrology.

The 4th harmonic, where we no longer have a prime number, the 4th harmonic is nothing more than the 2nd harmonic times two.

The 4th harmonic is represented by motivation, the individuals drive, we can see that my personal vibration, fourth harmonic has a rank of 338 at 365, so my motivation and drive is, I'm not going to be the athlete that most would see with a if I was to compare my fourth harmonic with someone else who is externally motivated or motivated in a certain way.

Mine is more of a different type of motivation, but really what I just tried to describe is irrelevant.

I want to right now describe how the vibrations are working from within me that I can identify that are the most strongest.

I really don't even have to explain why I believe my 4th harmonic is further down the spectrum of all 365 harmonics.

But the goal is to identify the strongest.

My 5th harmonic is represented by exploration, curiosity, creativity.

This is another prime number.

We can see that there are some midpoints.

Also, the 6th harmonic, I am just going to explain what each harmonic means and get to my strong harmonic, which is the 11th.

6th harmonic is harmonious interaction with others.

7th harmonic is quiet, introverted, more deeply, exploring the inner-verse.

13th 8th harmonic is the primary driving force of one's life, courage, strength.

9th harmonic is where we seek to flow within the community.

Alright, now the 10th harmonic is the play, the creative expression with others.

Here is my 11th harmonic, which is very strong.

It has a rank of 15.

Not only that it's very strong, but it's a prime number, so this 11th harmonic, which I can relate to very well, after I explored it.

It is the restless, moving, hungry for change.

We who have this strong 11th harmonic are sort of busy bodies on the inside, which will show on the outside.

Okay, there is this compulsiveness side of me, which I will show how I got these characteristics from the four planet combination and the three planet combinations along with the midpoints.

I have taken down some notes, just to make it a little bit quicker.

Let me read about my 11th vibe, restless, looking for more, something new, a pioneer, prone to instability, avoid stimulants, frustrations from lack of fulfillment, easily bored and there is a neediness.

So the frustration from lack of fulfillment is sort of the restlessness that I carry from within my 11th harmonic, right?

Avoid stimulants, well, why do I need any type of outside substance that is going to stimulate the chemicals within my brain, because I'm already stimulated, I carry this 11th harmonic, even though I enjoy my coffee in the morning, but that just adds to the stimulation, and then I get a little dopamine hit and go about my day.

Let's talk about the planet combinations.

So here we can see that my 11th harmonic has a 7th degree of separation with Mercury, Pluto, Sun, Uranus.

Alright, up there in my 11th house, there is a tight combination and this four planet combination is what makes this 11th harmonic strong along with the other planet combinations.

But this four planet combination means that my personality and the energy that flows through me is expressed in a way where I can create new insights, new ideas and be innovative from 11th house Taurian, Aquarius, type of personality.

Those attributions from Taurus and Gemini will play out through me in a 11th harmonic expression.

We look at the second, three planet combination and there is Mercury, Sun, Pluto.

This means that I have, there is an orb that is very tight, 3 degrees, very strong.

I have an obsession in areas of interest, with focus of intensity, ability to extract important aspects that are hard to understand.

Yeah, I will become very obsessive when I want to know how something works.

The 11th house is an Aquarian house.

My natal chart, I am an Aquarius, Capricorn cusp, but we Aquarians are fixed air, which feeds into the obsession in areas of interest, where I focus my intensity.

Where my focus goes, my energy flows, and with this small three degree planet combination, well, there is going to be a very intense focus that I can create when it comes to trying to understand what I consider important ideas or something that is hard to understand.

Next planet combination is Mercury, Pluto, Uranus is 7 degrees with this orb that will shine forth through me and expressed throughout my personality an innovative, creative, intense, communicate quickly and to the point.

You can hear me, I don't crack jokes very often and if I do, they're accidental.

I am wondering why some people are laughing, but I do get straight to the point.

My Mercury is actually in Capricorn with my Sun less than a minute within my 1st vibe.

My Mercury is in Capricorn at 29 degrees.

My Sun is at zero degrees.

I'm barely an Aquarian, but the Sun and Mercury in conjunction with Capricorn is going to be a serious, very clear type of communication that people can expect from me.

And if don't see it initially and if someone who just meets me, I can come across very friendly, I smile a lot, but when I begin to talk, I can be very supportive, but also arrange my words to on way that can be straight to the point, not as sharp as a Scorpio, but I will arrange my words where it's sort of like throwing a softball instead of a fastball at 100 miles per hour.

I lob a softball across the plate for the batter to hit and hopefully make contact in an easy way, compared to throwing a fastball which is harder to hit right down the middle of the plate.

13° Mercury, Sun, Uranus, and this means that I am a quick learner, quick reflexes, clever, ingenious, must have patience and discipline for consistency.

The patience and discipline seems to be prevalent in my life, but my inner world, this 11th harmonic, it is very intense.

I can a lot of time not be patient and start creating very quickly, also while making expectations on the outcome where instead of me letting my creations grow more organic, more healthy, I will like a Uranus type of behavior, become very unpredictable or excited and then my creation can actually be not messy, but it teaches me to slow down and be patient, okay?

That is where I need the Saturn.

Notice within these planetary combinations, there is no Saturn.

21° Saturn will actually take the extreme impulse of behaviors and contain them in a way which can be more healthy, create patience, more tolerance for myself, which will then be reflected through others.

I actually came a long way with handling this 11th harmonic.

I can look back on my life and all my experience and see how this 11th harmonic was wild in a way where the compulsiveness and the intensity was a little out of control.

Now that I have identified a lot of myself to myself through the tools of Tarot, Qabalah, Astrology, and working with others, now I can see how this 11th harmonic is very strong within me.

I sort of have a handle on it in a healthy way, because I can even either express this 11th harmonic in a way that could, I don't like using bad or good, because everything is perspective, individually perspective, I learned from my expressions of experience in the past to sort of shift this 11th harmonic in a way where I can use it on a daily basis that works for me and my family.

This brings joy, freedom, liberation, and I can tell myself, "Oh, I see why I'm doing this." or I know why I chose to react this way.

The last planet combination is Pluto, Sun, Uranus and has a 4 degree midpoint, so this orb is also very tight.

This means sudden emotional eruption.

I need to think before expressing my opinion, which could create a verbal confrontation, spontaneous and compulsive, unusually creative and unusual achievements.

Yeah, I have definitely had the sudden emotional eruptions early in my life, but now not so much unless it's joy and beauty or happiness and love, those are my sudden eruptions compared to resentments or fear, the stronger, more intense, lower vibrations which I needed to experience to create some contrast, learn from, and choose not to experience that again.

The way we do that is shifting our perspective making choices on how we want to do things differently.

Alright, those are the planet combinations and here are the midpoints.

The way midpoints work, the smaller they are, the tighter and more intense they are.

Here we have a Sun, Mercury, Uranus, conjunction at only five minutes.

Sun, Mercury and Uranus, the lines are drawn from the planets pointing to the degree which is so small without me having to zoom in, it's only five minutes.

This midpoint is actually the same as what we read before with the planetary combination.

We have the obsession in areas of interest with focus of intensity, ability to extract important aspects that are hard to understand.

This is what made me a good software developer.

I could go in and solve problems that were apparently difficult for a lot of people and other software developers.

I look back and I can see that now, but it was this 11th harmonic that I was riding on in order for me to accomplish that goal.

I had that intense focus, that intense sense of, I want to get this accomplished.

It was my 11th harmonic.

I also have a Sun, Uranus, Pluto midpoint.

It's the same with the planetary combinations, but let's look at the Moon.

There is a Moon, Jupiter, Neptune opposition.

This means that I'm a dreamer, I can easily get bored, I enjoy different cultures, I enjoy travel and meeting different kinds of people, I excel in fields that require imagination.

Yeah, I again get easily bored which is the 11th harmonic.

Once I do something, I can check it off in my mind and I am onto something else.

I don't have to keep doing it over and over and over again.

I really enjoy different cultures and a lot of that has to do with my 1st harmonic which I have Moon and Venus in Pisces in the ninth house.

Ninth house is Sagittarius, long travels, culture, my partner, she and I have been together for five years and she is from New Zealand, so my Venus and Moon, feminine energies, foreign woman that I desired to have in my life, subconsciously, right?

I can see how the 11th harmonic with my Moon in Virgo, it is very intense and this opposition creates a 46 minute orb that is very tight and strong.

The last midpoint we'll talk about is the 39 minute Pluto Mercury Uranus conjunction.

Actually, because that is the same as with the planetary combinations, let's talk about the 1 degree 3 minute Mercury, Venus, Mars conjunction because that is not in the planetary combination.

This means that my 11th harmonic will express well in arts, literature, humanities and software development is an art.

With this Mars, Mercury, Venus midpoint, I can look back and see how it was very strong when it came to my choosing how I want to express art.

I've been told that I write well also and documentation with software development or of an interest that has also been influenced by this 11th harmonic and that would be the Mars, the driving force, along with the Mercury, the thoughts and ideas, and then the Venus, which is the beauty, the joy, the love.

That's a strong midpoint for myself that I can see throughout my life that has played a major role.

Then I go on down to the 12th harmonic and the 13th harmonic, but I'm going to stop with only the 11th harmonic because my goal for this video was just to get across the idea that I will not be expressing astrology
the same way anymore.

It's evolved.

It's shifted.

It's integrated vibrational astrology with the way that I use to analyze astrology.

I've merged both of them together because I like how vibrational astrology will zoom in on our one natal chart and then divide it up into 365 degrees which will reveal how the energies that are within us, that are contained within us, within the vibration that we carry will be expressed whether we like it or not.

We can choose how we want to experience and express our strongest vibrations.

Alrighty, well, that will be all for today.

If anyone would like an astrology reading, reach out to me and I'll start integrating vibrational astrology along with the astrology analysis with Tarot because all aspects that are used to empower the individual is what's important to me.

I like to present as much as possible and then the other person can choose whether it works for them or not, right?

Because there is no one definite way with astrology.

It's not so much factual base because astrology is actually very young, even though it dates back many thousands of years, the foundation is still being built to the degree where humanity can use astrology to help identify the energies within themselves.

I will stop the video and thank you very much.
